What organizations are using Hyper scalers ?

To make a global digital commons a reality we should ask the question where should we place all the different types of data centers. Also we need to include the already existing data centers since we hope that they eventually join as well. We will start by rolling out data center space to non profits. We will have a website where the community can vote which projects should receive how much compute.

Each Hub should have such a section on their website that shows which non profit organizations are making use of the colocation space maintained by Deternet.
